

ANUAL REPORT 2022

santa fé

You can make a difference in the lives of children and adolescents!

Santa Fé is committed to the Sustainable Development Goals of the UN 2030 Agenda

Letter from the Board of Directors

It is a great joy to share the activities that demonstrate our commitment to a single mission: to guarantee the rights of children and adolescents, respecting their subjectivities and promoting a welcoming environment so that they can develop in an integral manner.

A desire that has been transformed into concrete and well-founded actions, for three decades of work we have sought each day to improve our actions and reach out to places, issues, and citizens that so often seem invisible to the eye. This process would not be possible without each one of our partners, who decided to believe that it was possible, necessary, and urgent to look after and assist children and adolescents who face any form of social risk.

We have become a reference, expanded our operations, and continue innovating, without ever forgetting the steps and the people who brought us here and represent the essence of Santa Fé. There are many stories built in a shared and affectionate way, many cycles are broken, and new narratives gradually emerge: children and adolescents who return to their families in a harmonious way, children who discover their potential, adolescents who enter higher education and the job market in a qualitative way.

There are many challenges that surround us, but they also motivate us to keep working and reaching even more people and communities. It is in the most adverse moments that our efforts are demanded to the maximum, as well as the hope that it is possible to change reality and the certainty that stories are transformed every day when we look at and understand each one of our families, children, and young people. Therefore, we repeat for another year that our actions will continue, as the pages and results of this report are the concrete evidence of the words of this letter and of our dedication.

We will continue to guarantee rights, food security, health, education, and culture, but especially hope, dreams, struggle, and development. This is our social duty and it is not possible to go backward when facing so many qualitative results, despite so many difficulties faced on a daily basis, the achievements of our sheltered public motivate us to keep on doing what is not done, to build projects and actions with the potential to transform trajectories, understanding the uniqueness and the strength of each individual who seeks us out and finds a safe harbor.

Letter from the President of the Board of Management Support

We present to you another Anual Report from Santa Fé. For us, the opportunity to deliver this great document means much more than accounting for what we have done. It is proof that, for another year, we were able to maintain our activities and rescue more young lives in São Paulo.

In 2023, we will complete three decades of work. A dream that began in August 1993, with a small action aimed at children and adolescents who lived in Praça da Sé. Thanks to the great partners who saw the urgency to support this cause, such as Engeform, which is currently the institution's main sponsor, the initiative has grown, been improved, gained governance, and has been able to give new meaning to more than a thousand stories of children, teenagers, and entire families.

So many lives have been transformed; so many futures rewritten, that the annual feeling cannot be other than "duty done". I put it in quotes because although I feel this great joy for so many people that we have already helped, there is still a lot to be done. And we will not stop!

Among many examples, allow me to give you one that has a great connection with my and Engeform's trajectory. One of the young women who joined Santa Fé at a very young age, a victim of so much violence, was sheltered, received love, psychological care, and studies, has been working at Engeform for about eight years and, very soon, will be a great engineer graduated from Mackenzie Engineering School. This is priceless and makes all our daily dedication worthwhile.

The thousands of stories like this one, which we register with great appreciation, could never have been written without the singular and necessary contribution of every Santa Fé employee, volunteer, partner and donor.

Therefore, in a very representative context of my life, I make a point of registering my gratitude to everyone!

After 12 years, I am pleased to hand over the presidency of the Santa Fé Board of Management Support to my dear friend Daniel Simões. I am flattered to have him as my successor, I wish him a lot of success and I reinforce that I will continue with him, integrating the Board, to continue this essential work of Santa Fé!

Let's get back to our work so that very soon we will experience the satisfaction of writing the report for 2023, 2024...

About Santa Fé

About Santa Fé

Our Name and Inspiration

The inspiration for the name of the organization comes from the flowers that bloom from the cacti in the desert city of Santa Fe (New Mexico - USA), even in the face of adversity. Santa Fé's work is based on this relationship, believing in the full development of each fostered child and adolescent, offering conditions for their full potential to flourish.

Mission and Vision

Mission

Include children and adolescents, who face personal or social situations of risk, in the universal category of common and total children and adolescents, providing them with a safe and appropriate environment for their full development, respecting their particularities, and implementing service models that ensure the defense and promotion of their fundamental rights and those of their families.

Vision

To be a reference center in the care of children and adolescents with a history of mistreatment, domestic abuse, and/or living on the streets, sharing the experience with similar organizations and influencing public policies, aiming to expand the social impact of our programs.

Guiding Principles

- The child as the center of all action, starting with the recognition of his or her history, needs, and desires.
- Breaking the vicious circle of misery-violence present in social and family spaces, and the fight for human rights.
- The stimulation of understanding and acceptance of the other.
- Respect for individual rights, based on tolerance, solidarity and sharing - the principle of dialogue and mediation in conflict resolution.
- The axis of education for peace, consolidating democratic values, being impossible to conceive the separation between political-economic rights and social rights.

Família Acolhedora Program

Description:

In the year 2022, the Associação Beneficente Santa Fé includes in its scope of work the responsibility of developing the Foster Family Program (FFP), linked to Project EI-3: Impacts of Interventions on Early Institutionalization.

The project is led by researchers from Harvard University, Tulane University, and the University of Maryland, in collaboration with the PENSI Institute and the Fazendo História Institute.

Target Audience:

- Children: babies who have been removed from their family life and taken in under protective measures. Under the research criteria to which the FFP is linked, the babies need:
 - be between 0 to 24 months old.
 - not have a history of more than 3 months of foster care.
 - weigh more than 2500 grams at birth.
 - not have any neurological or genetic condition that would impair typical development (e.g., cerebral palsy, down syndrome, etc).
- Families: Voluntary families who are willing to receive in their homes babies that were welcomed by the Foster Family Program and who meet the following criteria:
 - be 25 years of age or older.
 - not be registered in the National Adoption System.
 - not have a criminal record.
 - no psychiatric problems and/or dependence on psychoactive substances.
 - to live in the city of São Paulo for at least two years.
 - to have the affection and time organization to take care of babies from 0 to 2 years old.
 - agree to participate in the program.

Família Acolhedora Program

Goals:

Analyze 110 children in the care of at least 35 families, who are responsible for the primary care of the infants, to assess various aspects of their overall development.

Main Actions:

- Visit neighborhood associations and religious communities.
- Partnerships with other Family Fostering Services.
- Contacts through Santa Fé's social networks.

Results:

580 people were reached, with 56 interested parties. Training of five volunteer families, who are now able to welcome, in addition to the adhesion of another group of five families.
